Use Shotguns And Pistols And Bring Cops On Hurry Call

Many negroes in the vicinity of the Union stockyards, Kansas street and McLemore avenue, were startled late Sunday night by the crack of pistols and booming of shotguns. In answer to a riot alarm sent into the central police office, Sgt. Haynes, Detectives Bunner and Heckle and Patrolman McLemore were raced to the scene in a police emergency car.

It was not a race riot that was in progress, according to the police, as the white and negro men doing the shooting appeared to be working in conjunction. The police intimated that the whisky traffic was very likely the cause of the bombardment; the pistol and shotgun fire serving as signals to others engaged in the transportation of liquor.

Three white men and three negroes were arrested by the police and four of them were found to be carrying pistols. Two shotguns and another pistol or two were found hidden under a shed.

Those arrested gave the names of John Carter, deputy sheriff, 25 years old, Florida street; R. L. Phillips, boiler maker, 25 years old, Utah avenue; C. R. Powers, 17 years old, Florida street; Will Davis, negro, 35 years old, Speedway; John Lee, negro, 35 years old, South Pioneer place; Will Goodwin, negro, 35 years old, Indiana avenue.

All but Powers and Goodwin were registered on charges of carrying pistols. These two were charged with loitering.

According to the clerk in the office of Sheriff Perry, Carter is a deputy sheriff, attached to the force of W. W. Thompson, magistrate, with an office on North Second street. Sheriff Perry stated that he intended to investigate Carter's part in the affair.

Carter was first detained at police headquarters, but after a conference with Sheriff Perry was ordered released by Capt. Kehoe of the central police office. Carter is said to have explained that he was not with the other five men arrested, but was in the vicinity of the Union stockyards looking for bootleggers himself when the squad of police arrived.

REAL PHILOSOPHER.

"Why, it is hardly dark yet, Sister Johnson," surprised said the presiding elder. "You do not mean to tell me that your husband has retired already? Surely he is not ill?"

"No," replied Mrs. Gap Johnson, of Rumpus Ridge, Ark. "But he loved that as long as he had to go to bed some time or rather he might just as well go now."—Judge.

Y. M. C. A. WILL AID RETURNED SOLDIER

ATLANTA, Ga., May 26.—With the war over, and the great after-war problems confronting it in the shape of helping the soldiers and sailors back into civil life, the Y. M. C. A. is now, and for a considerable period will be, devoting itself to the men in the service and leaving it. And with problems that even the war and navy department did not fully realize, the task of "finishing up" the war work will require every penny raised by the association for that purpose.

J. R. Tichenor, of New York, associate general secretary of the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A., on an official trip to Atlanta recently, made a plain and impressive statement of the situation.

The association will not be able to make an extensive plan for the future permanent work in the army and navy until the present job has been finished," he said. "I am convinced that the permanent work of the association among soldiers and sailors, carried on during the normal times, will be continued and vastly enlarged in its scope after the rush of wartime is over. But we are devoting every energy to the work in hand, and it is enough of a job to keep us busy to the limit."

Mr. Tichenor was asked about the criticism of the Y. M. C. A. work overseas.

"The criticism is dying out fast," he replied. "Overseas, the Y. M. C. A. had a big job to attend to, and it had the choice of doing it in a big way, and taking the chance of being criticized, or of 'playing safe.' It did not play safe—it went to the job in as big a way as possible.

"It would have been possible to avoid criticism by playing safe and looking after our reputation. We do not deny that we made mistakes. Everybody who does big things makes mistakes. It should be remembered that the Y. M. C. A. was called on to send between 7,000 and 8,000 men overseas; that it put 1,000 men in the camps of the United States and that it recruited—on a rush order—upward of 14,000 men in all."

"In a way, the criticism was a compliment—tribute to how much was accomplished. The Y. M. C. A. in most cases the soldier's criticism is really a testimonial. When he tells all of his story, he tells the good far outweighs the bad. We are going to use our mistakes, too. They will act as guideposts for the future. The Y. M. C. A. learns by experience, as well as others.

Before becoming associate general secretary of the National War Work Council Mr. Tichenor was head of the Y. M. C. A. in the department of the Y. M. C. A. He is regarded as one of the ablest and foremost association workers in the United States.

With Mr. Tichenor was R. P. Brainard, deputy controller. While in Atlanta he was busy conferring with the local Y. M. C. A. officials regarding the demobilization plans of the association.

Calls Conference To Aid Foreigners

FRED CLAYTON BUTLER.

Fred Clayton Butler, United States director of Americanization, is calling a national conference of the experienced workers among the foreign born and illiterates. This conference will discuss methods of educating, instituting schools, safety, health, recreation, thrift, community centers, and other important matters relating to improving the life of the foreign born and assimilating them into American citizenship. Mr. Butler was for work in Kalamazoo, Mich., and Jamestown and Tonawanda, N. Y. During the war he had charge of the community problems of the war department. On Jan. 1 he was appointed director of Americanization by the secretary of the interior.

NAVAL BANDS GIVE MANY CONCERTS

One of the most enjoyable concerts given by the naval band during its stay in the city was at the convent of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd Sunday forenoon, where one of the bands played for the sisters and the girls of the convent. The young women of the institution added to the pleasure of the occasion by singing for the jacks, between the band numbers.

The concert given by the girls club and bands Sunday were arranged by the local Y. M. C. A. under the direction of S. M. Jackson, secretary. The first concert was given at the lobby of the association building at 4 a.m. From there the three organizations were taken in a special car supplied by the street railway company to the convent of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd and the girls club sang at the First Methodist church. The musicians were taken for a ride over the city in automobiles by the members of the Character Builders class from 3 p.m. until time for the concert at Overton park.

M'CALMAN HUNGERS FOR THESE FEES

C. E. (Red) McCalman, appointed collector of automobile license taxes recently under the act of 1918 creating the office, executed his bond Monday and filed with the chairman of the county court, preparatory to taking legal action to gain possession of his office, now a part of the duties of John C. McLemore, county court clerk. McCalman either will file a mandamus suit and attachment to gain possession of the office and records or will take the quo warranto route. The court proceeding probably will be filed Monday afternoon.

McCalman will resist the efforts of McLemore to get possession of the office on the ground that it is illegal to legislate a man out of office or take away his duties. He derives from the office during the term for which he is elected. Effort will be made, it is said, to have the law creating McCalman's office declared unconstitutional.
